

"At the Corner of Future & Main"

with Mayor Nickels & Bruce Katz

September 20, 2004

Agenda

5-7:30 p.m.

Open House

6 p.m.

Presentation:

Mayor Nickels & Bruce Katz

Center City Seattle is Mayor Nickels' strategy for encouraging economic growth, transportation, new housing, and great urban neighborhoods in the downtown core and the nine areas immediately around it.

In terms of geography, jobs and density, Center City represents the core of the region. By 2024 it is estimated that this area will produce 57,000 new jobs and over 24,000 new housing units.

Many exciting projects are planned for Center City in the next few years.

City of Seattle

Bruce J. Katz

Bruce Katz is a Vice President at the Brookings Institution and founding Director of the Brookings Metropolitan Policy Program. The Metro Program seeks to redefine the challenges facing cities and metropolitan areas by publishing cutting edge research on major demographic, market, development and governance trends.

Katz regularly advises national, state, regional and municipal leaders on policy reforms that advance the competitiveness of metropolitan areas. He focuses particularly on reforms that promote the revitalization of central cities and older suburbs and enhance the ability of these places to attract, retain and grow the middle class.

Katz is a frequent writer and commentator on urban and metropolitan issues. He is the co-editor of Redefining Urban and Suburban America (published by Brookings Press in 2003) and editor of Reflections on Regionalism (published by Brookings Press in 2000). His op-eds and articles have appeared in a wide range of major national and regional newspapers including The Atlantic Monthly, the Washington Post, the Christian Science Monitor, the Boston Globe, the Philadelphia Inquirer, and the Baltimore Sun.

Before joining Brookings, Katz served as Chief of Staff to Henry G. Cisneros, former Secretary of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Katz has also served as the staff director of the Senate Subcommittee on Housing and Urban Affairs.

Katz is a graduate of Brown University and Yale Law School. He is also a Visiting Professor of Social Policy at the London School of Economics.
